

Marjorie is a Princess, the daughter of the new King of Scotland, Robert the Bruce. A princess is supposed to live in castle, not a cage with a dirt floor. But in a cage is precisely where Marjorie finds herself, as a prisoner of her father's archenemy, King Edward I of England, the tall and cruel king known as "Longshanks". Young Marjorie has to find ways to outsmart him to survive, to remain true to herself, just to stay sane. Come join the Scottish patriots in 1306, a year after William "Braveheart" Wallace was executed, during the struggles for Scottish freedom. Could YOU survive in an open air cage, with little food or protection from the weather, and almost no privacy?
